

Job Opportunity in Finance

While many companies are laying off employees due to the troubled economy, AXA Advisors is hiring. They are holding a seminar/information session for individuals who are interested in learning more about the financial services industry.

The Eden Resort
Wednesday, February 25th
6:00 - 7:00 PM

They are looking for individuals who possess altruism, a positive attitude, and have a pattern of success. They hire individuals with work experience under their belt, as well as those just graduating from college.
