Certification Programs

Elizabethtown College offers several interdisciplinary programs leading to Pennsylvania teacher certification. For additional information on these programs, contact the Chair of the Education Department.

Pre-Law Advisory Program

Because the training of a pre-law student may be accomplished in almost any academic discipline, a committee assists pre-law students during their undergraduate years.

Pre-Medicine Concentration

Elizabethtown College prepares the student for entry into professional schools of medicine and related fields such as dentistry, osteopathic medicine, veterinary medicine, optometry and podiatric medicine.

Cooperative Programs

- Cardiovascular Invasive Specialty with Lancaster General College of Nursing and Health Sciences
- Doctor of Dental Medicine with Temple University
- Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine with Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine
- Doctor of Physical Therapy with Thomas Jefferson University
- Doctor of Physical Therapy with Widener University
- Forestry and Environmental Management with Duke University
- Pre-Allied Health with Thomas Jefferson University
- Premedical Primary Care Program with Pennsylvania State University
- Primary Care Pre-Admissions Program with Pennsylvania State University
- 3 + 2 Engineering Program with Pennsylvania State University

Standardized Test Waiver Option

Elizabethtown College values a strong high school record, complete with a challenging curriculum and consistently strong grades relative to your peers. For students who have demonstrated excellence during their four years of high school, Elizabethtown offers the opportunity to waive standardized testing from the application and scholarship review process.

If you fall into either category below and believe your standardized test scores do not reflect the same level of achievement or aptitude as the rest of your application, you will likely benefit from this waiver.

- I rank in the top 10% of my high school class, and I would like to waive standardized testing from my application and scholarship review.
- My high school does not rank, and I have a 3.5 GPA (on a 4.0 scale); I would like to waive standardized testing from my application and scholarship review.

Students applying to specialized programs (Honors Program, Primary Care Program, DPT) are still required to submit standardized testing for review by those programs.
