Elizabethtown vs. Scranton Match Notes

First, what is different this year: teams are no longer playing for a Middle Atlantic Conference championship. Instead of the MAC, there are now two totally separate conferences: the Commonwealth Conference (of which Elizabethtown is a member), and the Freedom Conference (of which Scranton is a member). The teams that competed for two spots from the MAC Commonwealth League for the MAC playoffs last year are now competing for four spots in the Commonwealth Conference playoffs. The reason for this change is that starting in the 2006-07 academic year, the Commonwealth Conference and the Freedom Conference team champions each fall will receive separate automatic berths in the NCAA tournament, which is held at the conclusion of the following spring season. And now, what is the same this year: all of Etown's top six players from last year's 9-4 team are back for 2004...
